Want to be a speaker at 2025 IPF?

The Call for Workshops is your best opportunity to secure a speaking role at the IPF.
Submissions are open now: Aug. 6 – Nov. 10

Why submit?

- Showcase your expertise.
- Expand your network.
- Gain recognition among peers.
- Join the Americas' largest offshore wind and ocean renewables conference.

What can your company provide?

- Solutions to critical challenges
- Market data, analysis and trends
- Forward-thinking strategies
- Cutting-edge research and technologies

What's a workshop?

Workshops are typically 60-minute panel discussions, but presentations and creative audience engagement approaches are encouraged.

Workshops should be submitted as comprehensive sessions that:

- Recount real-world projects.
- Advance critical conversations.
- Propose solutions to challenges.
- Introduce emerging topics, technology, or research.
- Present valuable data, trends, or market analysis.

Workshops are scored by the IPF Program Committee using specific criteria. Oceantic Network staff use their reviews to make final selections.

If your workshop is selected, speakers will receive discounted registration and are required to stay in the Network's hotel room block and promote 2025 IPF.

Submission Checklist:

- ☑ Title
- ☑ Description
- ☑ 3 Learner Outcomes
- ☑ Speakers (2-5, including moderator)
- ☑ Speaker Information (name, title, affiliation, email address, bio)
- ☑ Proposed Tracks
- ☑ Target Audiences

Tracks:

- Floating Offshore Wind
- Grid & Transmission
- Policy & Regulatory
- Project Installation and O&M
- Scientific & Technical
- Stakeholder Engagement
- Finance & Insurance
- Port & Vessel
- Workforce and Supply Chain Development
- Ocean Renewables
- Global Best Practices (lessons learned from global installation.)

Running out of time?

It's better to submit something than nothing at all. But remember, the more information you provide, the better the IPF Program Committee can review your submission.

Questions?

Contact: speakers@oceanticevents.org

Click for detailed submission information ▸